

ACIDUM PROJECT | BRAZIL

Acidum Project is a dynamic Brazilian art collective based in Fortaleza, Ceará. Founded in 2006 by Tereza and Robézio, known artistically as AC/D1, their work features large-scale, vibrant murals that explore themes of knowledge and humanity.

Acidum celebrates the experimentalist genre through a diverse range of urban art forms, including murals, graffiti, design, stencil work, audio-visual projects, and exhibitions. The duo utilizes vivid colours to capture the vitality of contemporary life in their pieces, which often feature bold applications of colour to obscure characters and graphic patterns. They challenge conventional notions of space, creating art that may initially appear sterile but, with closer engagement, reveals an intricate tapestry of idiosyncratic symbols and experiences that form a decipherable image.
